

End of the Line

Hank Golet photo

This osprey was entangled by fishing line which became wrapped around its neck.

Yes, this is upsetting to see. Fishing line, kite string, helium balloons, plastic bags, and other carelessly discarded trash, are deadly threats to wildlife, especially ospreys, which collect trash to add to their nests.

Please retrieve all fishing line, hooks, lures and sinkers and discard them in covered trash containers. We can all help further by picking up other people's trash, especially along our waterways.
